Getting your home inspected is one of the most important things you can do, bar none. Not only does a professional home inspection help you to protect your financial investment, it also helps you to protect your family's health and safety. Division Home Inspections provides several types of inspection services to meet your needs whether you are buying or selling your first home (Buyer and Seller inspection), maintaining the home you already live in (Maintenance and Warranty Inspection), preparing to renovate your home (Pre-Renovation Inspection), or are concerned about indoor air quality problems you may have in your home (Indoor Air Quality Investigation). No matter what type of inspection you may need, our inspection services are designed to add that extra sense of security that every homeowner wants.

Finally, I want to thank you for choosing Division Home Inspections for your home inspection needs. Simply present this redemption check to your home inspector upon completion of service. We look forward to serving you and those whom you refer with the quality and professionalism you deserve.
